FIRST SETTLERS FROM HOLLAND

Namaka IS Now Rapidly Coming to The Front

Friday the first lot of the Holland settlers arrived for this district and with their effects got off at Namaka, where they will permanently locate. There were three parties in this first contingent with their families and Namaka is proud to be able to host of the first of these sturdy Dutchmen.

Since Mike Brown had the faith in Namaka to establish his general store and lumber yard there last fall the future has been recognized and with the number of settlers bled to locate there this season there can be no doubt as to Namaka soon becoming quite a business point.

Namaka is one of the most favorably located points in the big irrigation belt, situated on the railway, and is sure to have a densely populated country surrounding it in a very few years.

SHEEP RANCHING PAYS WELL HERE

Peter McLean, the well-known sheep rancher, was in Gleichen Saturday, transferring his land at Namaka to the C. P. R. in exchange for other land at Bassano, and says he considers he made a very good bargain.

Mr. MacLean stated he had been in the sheep business for over thirty years and in that time had experimented in all quarters of the world, but was well satisfied with his experiments in this district during the past eleven years. He had been at Namaka for seven years and had now put in about four years at Bassano and had been enabled to prove that sheep ranching was a paying business in the Gleichen District.

But he said he would advise only men with experience to attempt sheep here as there are many difficulties to be overcome in the business, and by only the most careful attention would they be able to make a success of it.

Mr. MacLean said that at present he only had about 1500 sheep on his Bassano ranch, but he hoped to increase the number considerably this year. His experiences in various parts of the world are very interesting as told by himself and the writer hopes to be able to relate some of them at another time.

2ND PRIZE BARLEY

It may be a little late, yet the fact is still worth telling that the barley exhibited at Lethbridge Provincial Exhibition last month by Mr. F. E. Renaud and grown on his farm north of town, was awarded second prize. The fact was unknown to The Call until last week, or it would have had publicity ere this. However, Mr. Renaud deserves credit for making the exhibit and it is to be regretted that Lethbridge did not more thoroughly advertise their Exhibition as otherwise Gleichen might have been well represented, and other prizes secured. Mr. Renaud's crop last season was one of the best in this district, and the only surprise is that he did not capture a first.

About twenty of our young people gave a pleasant surprise party to Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Brereton last Thursday evening at the North Camp. Every one in attendance had a good time dancing and playing cards and voted Mr. and Mrs. Brereton capital entertainers.

When purpose becomes as strong as necessity then does a man achieve.

Not a single spring poet has shown up at this place yet, which is the only reason to doubt the glorious weather of the past week—the waste paper basket is empty. Is it possible the microbes has not yet infected this district.

There were not a enough members present to hold a meeting of the Board of Trade Tuesday evening. This is quite discouraging to those who put in an appearance.

In a few weeks The Call will give forth a bigger whoop than ever. It will be seven columns wide and a little longer. That is if the collateral is forthcoming.

A St. Patrick's ball will be given in the Foresters' Hall on March 17th. This will be the last event of the season and should be attended by all.

When a country woman moves into a large city it is awfully hard for her not to be welcomed by the woman next door.

A number of Strathmore brethren attended the Gleichen Masonic lodge on Tuesday evening.

Will Discuss Creamery

C. Marker, Dairy Commissioner, of Calgary, writes The Call as follows: "Re organization and establishment of a creamery at Gleichen. I am pleased to advise you that at the poultry meeting which has been called for Friday, March 20th at 2 and 8 p.m. at Gleichen the subject of general dairying will be discussed by an official of this branch of the Department of Agriculture. The Creamery question will be fully dealt with on that occasion and I hope that all interested in dairying in your district will find it convenient to attend."

SHIPPED MORE RANGE CATTLE

Last week four cars of range cattle were shipped to Winnipeg from Gleichen for beef, and four more cars of cattle were shipped from Stobart, but about half of the latter were fed a little during the winter. All of these cattle were in fine shape for beef, and it understood other shipments will shortly be made.

$12,500 In Seven Days

For the first seven days of March the business transacted at the Gleichen C. P. R. station amounted to $12,500. This may give some little idea of how Gleichen is growing, especially when throughout the country people are talking of stringent times. Cheer up, and watch Gleichen grow.

IRRIGATION AND SMALL FARMS

Irrigation, like most other innovations, is largely a matter of education. The average person, for instance the people of this part of Western Canada, will disclaim all knowledge of irrigation, when the fact of the matter is that they have practised or seen it practised all their lives. The watering of a plant or the sprinkling of a lawn is just as much irrigation as is the annual inundation of the valley of the Nile. Of course, it is irrigation in its simplest form—nevertheless irrigation in all that the word implies—the artificial application of water to assist nature in bringing forth plant life. However, in seven or eight months we will know much more of irrigation than we do today, for then the crops will be harvested in the irrigation block—the largest irrigation system on the American continent—and an opportunity of judging of its merits will be had.

When the Canadian Pacific railway has completed this great system, one could take a boat at the headgates, two miles east of Calgary and travel for 3,000 miles on its artificial water-way—a distance equal that travelled in crossing the continent from ocean to ocean. On this voyage would be seen a land dotted with many homes—farms, not as in the old days of 1,000 to 5,000 acres, but in majority of instances of from 80 to 160 acres.

And what are all these small farms, and the people they support, going to mean to the future.

Probably the greatest benefit that irrigation has conferred on mankind is the practical demonstration of the profitability of the small farm, acre for acre, as compared with the large farm. Southern Alberta contains as many striking proofs of this profitability as may be found in the older districts. The day was when anything less than a section of land was looked upon as being too small, and from a section up to several thousand acres of land was considered none too large for a farm. But that day has passed, and farms have gradually decreased in size until today forty acre well cultivated will produce greater returns than 160 acres would under the old system. The increased prosperity that will certainly accrue to a country from the multiplication of small farming compared with the holding of large tracts of land by individuals is apparent to all. Everything that follows in the wake of increased population is an argument in favor of irrigation and the cultivation of small areas.

Irrigation has practically unified the sentiment of manufacturers, merchants and transportation agencies in support of the propaganda of the small farm. The small farm had its advocates fifty years ago, and a few isolated practical demonstrations; but with the mass, even of intelligent men, it remained nothing but a theory. The business sympathies of the manufacturer and merchant were given to a man with a big farm, he being considered a large consumer, a better customer, and a shipper of much freight. It has now been demonstrated by numerous prosperous communities on irrigated farms that a hundred farms of ten acres each would make nearly a hundred times as much business as does one farm of a thousand acres.

TOWN AND DISTRICT

W. Paul Paget, purchased for the Alberta Pacific Elevator Co. two carloads of No. 1 oats from F. W. Mertins and shipped them from Calgary on Monday.

Tuesday Messrs. Ryan & Fair shipped eight carloads of horses to Winnipeg from their ranch north of Gleichen. The horses were a fine looking bunch and in fine condition.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Markley arrived a week ago from Oregon and have been examining the country north and south of here. They have decided to take up irrigated land north of town.

Superintendent Lawrence of the C. P. R. spent a day in town last week and was particularly pleased with the amount of business his company is doing here for this season of the year, which he has reason to believe is an evidence of that to be done later.

W. D. Trego is in town with three more land seekers, all of whom are now purchasers of irrigated land. The are: John Bond of Blackfoot, Idaho, E. R. Mulberry of Idaho Falls, and W. F. Bond of Lamont, Iowa.

General Superintendent Price of the C.P.R. paid an official visit to town last Friday, and he is not afraid to express his opinion of the future of this town and district, and it is a most favorable one.

Dominion Government Surveyor Fairchild returned Saturday from Ontario and on Tuesday went north with a party of men to complete the survey he was engaged with last season. It will probably be some months before the party returns to town again.

Mrs. Robson, sister-in-law of Manager Robson of the Demonstration Farm, arrived with her two sons from Blackfoot, Idaho, on Tuesday, and expects her husband and two other sons to arrive today with a carload of effects. They will reside near here in future, having purchased land northeast of town.

Gleichen stock men have already booked two cars for the purpose of exhibiting some of their fancy horses at the Calgary Horse Show on March 25th, 26th and 27th next, and it is likely that others will follow suit. The pure bred stock of this district may surprise some of the stockmen of other parts, and it is well that the stockmen here are showing their enterprise at this time.

The Council has secured a much needed nuisance ground on the southeast corner of Robt. Landell's farm, comprising two acres. They secured the land at $50 an acre, paying $25 down and the balance is to be paid in October next. This is generally considered a good bargain as it is near town and the land is worth the price. It also puts an end to a question that has been much talked of for months past.

The debate on the resolve "That the press has greater influence than the pulpit" resulted in a decision for the press. It proved a very interesting debate and the judges, Miss Hamilton, Messrs. Shore and Hogg, admitted they found it difficult to arrive at a decision. Messrs. McCoy and McKee defended the resolution, while Miss Convey and Miss Burne argued well for the pulpit. Both sides brought out many good points and The Call regrets that time does not allow a full report.

The Edmonton Saturday News quoted Hon. Mr. Finlay, Minister of Agriculture, as making the following statement at a banquet given in Ponoka: "Regarding the establishment of an agricultural college he thought the time was scarcely opportune and remarked that instead the government would place model farms or experimental stations, some six in all, through the province, with competent men in charge, who would give the farmer every assistance in the matter of advice. The establishment of a pork packing business would not be embarked upon until the government had made a thorough study of the subject in all its details."

Grow Some Sugar Beets

As we remarked before, every farmer in the Gleichen district should plant some sugar beets this spring in order to secure a refinery, which is an industry that is sure to be located here some day, yet just when depends largely, or, it may be said, depends altogether, on the enterprise of the farmers in this direction.

In making this suggestion it cannot be claimed it is asking the farmers to do something for nothing, for it is only calling on them to try something that will be profitable to each one who follows it out, as well as profitable for the whole district.

For every ton of beets grown the farmer will receive exactly the same price at the station here as the farmers do at Raymond, where a refinery is already in operation.

The C. P. R. has made this arrangement in order to encourage the cultivation of beets in this district and our people should not be slow to take advantage of it.

From the returns of the beets grown here last year it is learned that they are of a better quality than those grown elsewhere in the province; indeed, it said better than in any of the States. However, it is certain that our beets grade very high in the qualities most useful in the production of sugar, and it is also certain that there is a demand for our beets.

It is not advocated that our farmers go entirely in for beet-growing, but that everyone of them should at least produce a few tons. If for no other reason than to prove to their own satisfaction just what their land is capable of.

To make a test of this kind it will not only prove immediately profitable, but it will also prove the value of the land. Thus those who may desire to sell at any future time will be able to get a better price than if the land has not been tested for beets, and it must be borne in mind that authorities state that in time this will be the chief industry of the entire district.

For the same reasons, those who are in a position to know, point out that our farmers should attempt all the branches of mixed farming as soon as it is possible and reasonable for them to undertake it.

The High River Times tells of a farmer stating he was offered 35 cents for his oats in that town and brought them to Gleichen and only received 28 cents a bushel. The farmers evidently like to jolly reporters for nearly every day some of the men from the south state they receive more for their grain here than offered at High River and the haul is shorter. Perhaps after all the fluctuations of the Winnipeg market have more to do with the prices paid in either town than the philanthropic views of grain buyers.

The Call's job department has been taxed almost to the limit of late. In fact it has been impossible to turn out all the work on time. Therefore, we ask our patrons to be patient and send in orders as much in advance of requirements as possible. The patronage is fully appreciated and we desire to fill all orders quickly, yet ask sufficient time to turn out only first-class work.

Already a number of sure prize-winners have been secured for the Gleichen exhibit at the Dominion Exhibition next July, but what they represent will not become public just yet. However, it now appears our exhibit will be a good one and sure to attract attention. More exhibits are needed and every man is expected to do his duty in this respect and do it well.

Oh, no, the location of the college at Gleichen is not a dead issue by any means, nor will it be until it is finally built here. The question will not likely be settled this year by the Legislature, but that only allows more time for solid work and Gleichen has the necessary qualities for that class of work. Keep boosting for the college.

Is it not a little strange how readily eastern people accepted the exaggerated reports of the weather here last winter and refuse the facts of a mild winter this?

Mixed Farming Pays

Not long since The Call man had a chat with James Walker, who has made a success of farming about three miles west of town. In the course of conversation Mr. Walker intimated he had lost some cattle a year ago, but said he: "I did not feel the loss very much. You see I also have a number of horses, pigs and chickens and I make butter and grow good crops of grain and vegetables, so if anything goes wrong with one line of business the others are sure to make up the loss."

There it is again—mixed farming pays. And The Call has never asked a man in this district, who has tried mixed farming, that has not corroborated Mr. Walker's statement.

Fruit and Corn in Alberta

The possibilities of Alberta as a fruit and corn country are only now being discovered. For a long time it was taken for granted that neither corn nor fruit could be raised in Central Alberta; this, however, has been proved erroneous.

A few systematic experiments have proved of great advantage along this line and now both corn and apples are giving satisfactory results. In various localities all the way from the Montana boundary to Edmonton, and even further north, apples are being grown, and each year a marked improvement is being noticed.

We believe that in a very few years Central Alberta will be able to boast of her hardy fruits as loudly as she now can of her grain.

Corn will receive more attention in the future, and its production will become a matter of course, with beneficial results to both man and beast.—Calgary Albertan.

Would Pay Twice The Price

D. B. McNeil writes from Vancouver, B. C., and in renewing his subscription to The Call generously makes these remarks:

"If all your subscribers looked for The Call as we do, then you should raise your price, as we would not miss it if it cost twice the present price. I see there are lots of aspirants for the College but I think you will win. Regards to old friends."

Father Lacombe: "In the old days we had no magistrate, no police and no crime. It was stupid to think of putting a lock on our doors. It is wonderful to think that the advance of civilization has brought in crime in its path."

When your name is printed on a label and appears on a copy of The Call it is a sign you are considered a subscriber to this paper, and not before. If you have paid your subscription and your name is not printed kindly notify us.

A man can feel secure in his own strength when public opinion assails him. Any attempt to uphold or justify him is evidence that he needs help. Opposition is recognition of power.

Savages believe the strength of a defeated enemy will pass into the victor. Strength is the fruit of resistance and he who successfully resists evil becomes a sturdy tree of helpfulness.

Never be satisfied if there is a degree of proficiency you have not yet reached; keep working towards it; studying towards it, climbing towards it.

Select the work you would do; be faithful to it, and drop all else. In this way only can you store up enough vital force to be a leader in your line.

Don't play always at one game. Adopt new tactics. Intense new interest into your daily life. A game too long played will leave you vacant and forlorn.

COMING AND GOING

Spring is here in all its glory.

The east end of Gleichen continues to grow.

F. D. Wald of Gladys was in town on Sunday.

Tuesday is St. Patrick's Day—get out your green.

List your property with the Gleichen Realty Bureau.

T. A. Bryant was in from Snake Lake on Tuesday.

C. O'ray and H. S. Torrance were in Monday from Brant.

Dr. Lake, the dentist, is coming again on Saturday, the 21st.

Balmy Spring—the mild winter has lessened your welcome.

T. Gibson of Blue Spring ranch spent several days in town this week.

The hotels are filling up with guests, which is a good sign of the times.

Gleichen has the ideal location for the Agricultural College—boost it along.

A. D. Shore spent several days last week transacting business at Calgary.

Did you read the talk with the ranchers by A. A. MacGregor in his ad?

H. H. Roger, R. W. Chamberlain and A. A. Smith were down Saturday from Calgary.

J. A. Markle, superintendent of Indian Agencies, spent several days at the local agency this week.

The gophers and badgers are out.

This is regarded as the surest sign that spring is here to stay.

Jas. Hogg of Red Deer spent several days in town last week visiting his brother, R. H. Hogg.

The first District Court sits at Gleichen on Wednesday, June 3rd. It will get some patronage all right.

E. C. Henrich is taking up a line of implement machinery along with his flour, feed and grain business.

Quite a number have renewed their subscriptions the past week and their goodness is much appreciated.

The Rev. H. Fraser will hold service at Mr. Brown's, at Queenstown, on Sabbath, March 15th, at 1:30 p.m.

The Call's All Red envelope will take on its spring color shortly and appear All Green. Get your orders in early.

A new parsonage is to be built close to St. Andrew's church, and already the work of digging the cellar has been commenced.

If you can't get the rats out out your wheat just call and get a Webber Fanning Mill at J. B. Leggat's. It can't be beat.

The meeting of the Gleichen Christian Endeavor Society on Tuesday, 17th March, at 8 p.m., in the school house, will be in charge of the Missionary committee.

CEMETERY CO. MEETING

At the request of several subscribers of the Gleichen Cemetery Co. I desire to call a meeting of the subscribers for Monday, March 15th, at 8 p.m., in the School House, and hope that once and for all this question will be permanently settled.

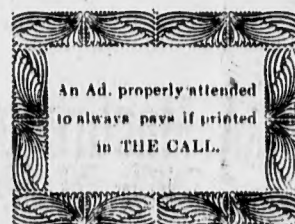

FRANK VIGAR.

THE GLEICHEN REALTY BUREAU

The Gleichen Realty Bureau is something new and the object of its formation will develop in the near future and it will pay to follow the scheme.

For the present nothing is offered for sale, But If you have any property to sell you should list it with the Bureau without delay,

Because

The Bureau can place it before intending purchasers to the very best advantage.

Bureau, Gleichen, Alberta.

W. PARK
 EVANS,
 Manager.

The Call man is not a farmer, never has been a farmer, although he would like to be one. Yet he once lived in the famed Bruce county, a couple of years. However, he has learned a little about farming and will not get "ma!" if any of our farmers correct him when he makes a brake, as from now on he is going to write a little about it and the reasons for attempting it is that we cannot get the farmers to write their own ideas and experiences. Now, if you think at any time his furrow is crooked, he has got the cart before the horse, or he is trying to irrigate up hill, call around and put him right.

This cut really has no defined purpose except that it draws your attention. I wanted you looking my way for a moment and I got you. That helps. Now read on brother. I don't like the regular dental cuts. A picture of a set of teeth is ghastly to say the least. Too many are used. They suggest suffering, and I agony has nothing to do with modern dentistry. The last cut I used was never intended to be my picture, but was put in for the same reason that a band plays outside a theatre before the performance—to attract attention.

Advertising pays when it is done intelligently and every piece of work that leaves my office and hands is as good as skill and experience can make it.

ON HONOR

I have the necessary equipment to do perfect work.

As well, I honestly believe, I have the necessary skill.

I have had fifteen years experience in the better class of work.

The every day demands of my practice require that I exert myself in every case.

The class of people who indulge themselves in the best things of life are my patrons, and the fact that my practice has grown to the proportions it has proves that I have been successful in pleasing this special condition of demand.

In my advertising I tell as straight a story as I know how. The truth is always safe, but an advertised lie only hits back with redoubled force.

I select the best publicity medium, responsible newspapers, talk through their columns to their readers just as I would speak to the people in my private office.

When I say I can make a perfect fitting plate, just that is meant. I know I can.

When I say I can save any sort of a decayed and aching tooth and restore it for future use and that without pain, I mean just that.

When I tell you that all my work is guaranteed as perfect, believe me. I will make good.

I will be in Gleichen again on Saturday, March 21
